Welcome, Spiritual Seeker

If your curiosity has guided you to download this flyer, it's likely you're exploring whether this mentorship is the right fit for you. I hope it is, and I invite you to read the following carefully.

This mentorship is intentionally held and thoughtfully guided. While enrolment is by request, participation is not automatic. Even if someone wishes to join, I reserve the right to ensure that the mentorship is suitable for you, and that you are suited to the style, depth, and level of teaching offered. This is done with care, respect for your time, and consideration for the learning environment of current students.

You are welcome whether you are a complete beginner, a returning student, or a medium at any stage of development, including advanced levels. Artistic confidence is not required. If drawing has never felt like "your thing", this mentorship is still open to you.

Who This Professional Mentorship Is For

This mentorship is for those who feel drawn to Spirit Portraiture and want a structured, supportive way to develop their skills over time. It is suitable for beginners, returning students, and developing mediums who value steady progression, thoughtful teaching, and space to practice without pressure.

You may be at the beginning of your journey, returning to spirit art after time away, or looking to deepen your understanding of how Spirit communicates through drawing. What matters most is curiosity, commitment, and a willingness to explore your own process in a respectful learning environment.

This mentorship is designed for those who appreciate guidance, reflection, and learning within a group setting, while still being encouraged to work at their own pace.

Who This Mentorship May Not Be For

This mentorship may not be suitable if you are looking for instant results, rapid certification, or a fast-paced programme with constant weekly demands. It is also not intended for those seeking a purely performance-based or competitive environment.

If you prefer highly prescriptive methods with no room for personal interpretation or are not currently able to commit time for practice and reflection between sessions, this may not be the right fit at this stage.

So: if you're ready to proceed, continue to read the information on the website and then email me your interest for the investment price. Once agreed and you've paid you'll gain a confirmation email with next steps.

I look forward to seeing you on the mentorship.
